

Annotation

A comparison of research activities in the Internet is impossible without a clear assessment of the current situation, identify key factors affecting the quality of the work.

The main purpose is to study existing methods for evaluating ranking schools on the Internet. It is important to establish criteria for assessing the rating of the institution to determine the factors influencing its position in the world rankings.

In this thesis work deals with methods and criteria for rating schools. It was suggested that the use of Webometrics methods for evaluating Internet resources for educational institutions. A description of all necessary parameters for ratings.

A program, which ranks the world, using data of leading search engines in the world. The main stages of the system parse (scan) data.

An explanatory note has a volume of 103 pages, includes 38 figures and 21 tables. Number of bibliographic materials that were used at work is 19.